

FARM LABOR MAY COME UNDER ACT

Workmen's Compensation Board Favorably Considering Change Here

Should farm labor come under the workmen's compensation act, the question that the legislature will be asked to decide in the coming session, is whether or not the act should be extended to include the agricultural community. The act, which was passed in 1912, covers the industrial community, but the farmers have been excluded. The act is the opinion that this should not be done.

The question was incidental to a hearing on the compensation act held last night for increased compensation.

It was shown that the rates paid in Canada for the most part were higher than those paid in the United States. Last year the rates in the United States were an average of 14.25 while in Alberta they were $2.07.

It was understood that there is a fairly large number of the farmer's families who are opposed to the proposed measure.

EVIDENCE OF POSSESSION.

Just when the Oregon Government is being congratulated over stamping out the revolution along comes news that the rebels have wiped out fifteen hundred Federal troops in the state of Tabasco. The completeness of the victory may be exaggerated, but it seems clear that the insurgents are holding the cable off in Mexico.

OOST CREATES INTEREST.

The result of charging fees for attendance at the high schools will be that a pupil will understand that he is not going there merely to put in time or as a matter of custom, but to learn. If parents have to hand over a couple of dollars per month as fees they will be more likely than now to keep their fat children out of the U.S. mines. Perhaps it seems clear that the insurance companies are holding the cable off in Mexico.

ONE AGAINST THREE

The British continents in the round-the-world air race are staking their chances on one plane, against three U.S. machines. They are also making the venture "on their own," while their rivals are backed by all the resources of the U.S. military and naval departments. The outcome of the race will be decided by the outcome of the contest. The airplane is a fragile contrivance and one mishap would put them out of the contest, while the U.S. airman can lose two planes and crews and still finish the course. Should the British fliers win, their victory will be the more notable on that account, as they would also disprove the supposed advantage of the U.S. in future long distance flights.

TAXATION BRINGS LITIGATION.

The Provincial Government refuses to cancel the tax it imposed last session upon minerals which are supposed to underlie land whose owners have obtained mineral as well as surface rights. In effect this means that the Province will fight the case in the courts. The Province has the measure, with a prospect that the case will go to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council before it is settled. If the Government wins, the question remains whether the holders of such rights will pay the tax in respect of land under which it is not known that minerals are to be found. If they refuse, the mineral rights will go back to the Dominion, by which authority they were granted. The chances of the Province getting anything out of that attempt to tax what may not exist—except the privilege of paying a lawyer's bill—do not appear altogether bright.

TIME FOR A CHANGE

The Agricultural Committee of the Legislature is considering ways and means to extend the term of farmers' leases. The committee is considering the measure, with a prospect that the case will go to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council before it is settled. If the Government wins, the question remains whether the holders of such rights will pay the tax in respect of land under which it is not known that minerals are to be found. If they refuse, the mineral rights will go back to the Dominion, by which authority they were granted. The chances of the Province getting anything out of that attempt to tax what may not exist—except the privilege of paying a lawyer's bill—do not appear altogether bright.

MORE COMPETITION NEEDED

When shipped by way of Vancouver, Alberta wheat, it is claimed, cost the farmer in Britain at least four to eight cents per bushel less than it costs to land other prairie grain, where there is no grower does not get the benefit of this cheaper through freight rate. Wheat is shipped in Alberta at Ft. William prices, which are based on the cost of shipping it over the eastern route. The farmer and pockets what he saves in Britain at the lowest by shipping through Vancouver. What is needed to establish the price in Alberta on the basis of shipment through Vancouver is the creation of a great cash market, such as there is at Winnipeg. Winnipeg quotations do not represent actual values for the wheat, but they are the reason that it costs less to ship the wheat by way of the Pacific than to send it by way of Ft. William and the Atlantic ports. More firm competition for Alberta wheat, and elevator accommodation sufficient to allow the trade to be carried on westward as it is carried on through the older routes for Alberta wheat, is required to secure the benefit of the cheaper route to the Alberta farmer.

THE UP-BET AT PARIS

The Poincare Government has resigned, following the rejection of a fiscal measure which the Ministry made a test of whether or not they held the confidence of the Chamber of Deputies. The bill was part of the program by which the Government has sought to re-establish the national finance and bring the franc back to normal value in relation to foreign currencies. The collapse of the Ministry is thus a result of the sudden slump in the rating of the franc at New York and London a fortnight ago. There have been rumors that that depression of the work of parties who deliberately manipulated the money market, for their own advantage or in hope of breaking the solidarity of the support given the Poincare Government, and thus weakening French policy toward Germany. If so, the plot has succeeded at least to the point of driving the Ministry into a campaign of fiscal reform which caused its downfall.

That French policy regarding Germany and reparations has changed or will change is not to be inferred. There is nothing to indicate that Poincare stamped French opinion on the Ruhr question or that he moved in advance of popular sentiment. On the contrary, the occupation has been consistently approved by large majorities in the Chamber, and has seemingly had corresponding strong endorsement by the people of the republic. The defeat of the Ministry on an entirely different matter does not mean that France will withdraw from the Ruhr or that it will stand less resolute for a definite and early settlement of reparations issue. At most the vote signifies that the French members do not resist the idea of having taxes levied twenty per cent, even though expenditure is slashed by a billion francs at the same time. It does not follow because the French taxpayers object to having their taxes raised that they are weakening on the proposal that Germany be made to pay what it owes them. Rather the contrary.

IMMEDIATE CONSTRUCTION IS URGENT.

Reports from Ottawa leave a measure of uncertainty as to whether it has been definitely decided to proceed with the construction of the Grand Rapids bridge. The project has been under consideration for some time, and the results of the survey have not as yet been fully considered, and that a further announcement will be made in the near future. The project is a bridge of steel, and the results of the survey have not as yet been fully considered, and that a further announcement will be made in the near future. The farmers in Grande Prairie, and other sections of the Peace River country, find themselves trying to farm at a disadvantage which they consider to be a disadvantage. The reason for this is that the land is being sold at a price which is too high for the farmer to buy. The land is being sold at a price which is too high for the farmer to buy. The land is being sold at a price which is too high for the farmer to buy.

For two years people have been abandoning farms in the Grande Prairie section of the Peace River district in large numbers and getting out of the country. The reason was not dissatisfaction with the natural advantages, but a feeling that farming could not be carried on for a reasonable profit under existing conditions. Those who remain have stayed because they could not leave or because they were waiting for a change where the others had ceased to hope. They cannot be expected to remain indefinitely on farms. To announce that the Brule branch will not be carried on is to announce that the evacuation of the farming communities which have formed in that remote and wonderfully fertile part of the Province. To even postpone construction and to announce would almost certainly produce a stampede of the remaining settlers out of the country, and perhaps out of Canada.

Calgary Milk Rate.—The reduction in the Calgary milk rate is a somewhat startling feature on the surface, but it is a result of the decrease in the cost of production. The reason for this is that the cost of production has decreased, and the price of milk has decreased. The cost of production has decreased, and the price of milk has decreased. The cost of production has decreased, and the price of milk has decreased.

The jury, which was comprised of C. K. Harris, C. A. Graham, Fred Jordan, N. C. Rowe, J. H. Skendzel and A. P. Hunter, reported back to the court at four o'clock, that they were unable to agree.
